

Numbering System

You will note that in the compilation of this book a numbering system has been used which may need a word of explanation. All children of each set of parents are numbered with lower- case Roman numerals, and if they are known to have married and had family, an additional gothic number is given to the left. This gothic number directs you forward one generation where the number will be listed (in parentheses) for that person as a married adult. If children are not carried forward, all available information about them is given where they are listed in their parent's household.

When the order of birth was know the children are listed in chronological order.

The following example is given to help the reader further understand the organizational system used in this book.
